BRIBED BYRNES, HE SAYS.

AN OLD GAMBLER ACCUSES THE EX-CHIEV.

The Commissioners of Accounts Turn from the Investigation of the Old Bock Board to That of the Pollee Byrnes Said to Have Protected a Keno Game for a Share of the Profits - John Sennnell Called Collector for Gambling Houses, The Commissioners of Accounts gave over the old Dock Board investigation yesterday and turned their attention to some aftermath of the Lexow investigation of a year sec. They concerned themselves with the Police Department at a half-hour session in the Stewart building. and elicited testimony in which ex-Chief Byrnes was declared to have been when a Captain a partner in a gambling house, and to have perenally received from the chief proprietor a sum of at least $2,000 in regular monthly installments. A letter was introduced, which Commissioner Terry said afterward was presumably dictated by Byrnes, in which the witness who yesterday incriminated the ex-Chief was urged to absent himself from the Lexov investigation, although he had been subposnaed to appear there. It was not shown at the hearing that Byrnes was the author of the letter.

The sensational testimony was given by an aged gambler, Christian W. Schaffer. He came into the room in company with ex-Detective Centre, who was often seen during the Lexow committee's sessions, and has been popularly supposed to have it in for Byrnes. Commissioner Terry questioned Schaffer, who said that he kept a club house first at 1 Ann street in 1857, and first had trouble with the police in 1862 or 1883, when they stopped his business at 233 Broadway. They broke into his place by battering down the doors, claiming to have a war rant. Having got this preliminary statement Mr. Terry plunged at once into the business of bringing out his belated sensations. "Do you know ex-Superintendent Byrnes?" he asked.
"Very well," sald Schaffer. "I have known him about twenty-five years." Q.-When and in what connection did you for him? A.—When he was made Captain of the Fif-teenth precinct, in 1872 or 1878 I think it was. Q .- Did he ever tell you you must shut up your place or anything of that kind? A.-Yes, sir. He sent for me one evening to come out, and saked me what I was doing there. Q.-Where were you then? A .- At 789 Broadway. Q.—You kept a gambling house there? A.—Yes, sir. Q.—What did you tell him? A.—I saked him not to trouble me that evening. He said he was king there and that I had presumed a great deal to do such a thing—though there was plenty of lasm in the neigh-borhood. I asked him to wait till the next day. He sald very well be would. Q-When next did you see him? A .- After I had seen a friend of mine, a Police Commissioner, who had a talk with him.

O - Who was that man? A .- Sidney Nichols. I me that he had told Byrnes to close other places if he closed mine. Byrnes uld not attempt to close mine after that. I next saw Byrnes a week afterward. Then I says to him: "While we are making some money we are willing other people should," and I nade a suggestion to him which he compiled with, money we are not below which he could be not suggested to him which he could be not ly went on and done business.

Q.—what was the suggestion? A.—Weil, I suggested that he take a quarter of my business.

D.—A quarter of the profits? A.—Yes, of that particles of the profits? A.—Yes, of that particles of the profits?

Q.-A quarter of the profits? A.-Yes, of that par-ticular line I had opened. Q.-What was that particular line? A.-It was a Q.—What was that particular the profits of the kenn business.

Q.—What did he say when you suggested to him that you would give him a quarter of the profits of the kenn game? A.—He was satisfied or else he would have said something. He turned and walked away. The witness said that Byrnes never interfered with him after that. His place continued to run for several years, but the keno branch of it ran only eight or ten months.

rsn only eight or ten months.

Mr. Terry-Did you ever pay Mr. Thomas Byrnes this che-quarter share of the keno game? The witness—As recularly as I paid my partners.

Q-lidwoften was that? A.—Once a month.
Q-bid you pay him personally? A.—Nobody else.
Q-Where did you pay him? A.—In the street, at the corner, down toward the New York Hotel and Waverley place, where we meet generally.

Q-You used to see him about once a month? A.—As regularly as the landlord came.

Q-liow much did you pay him a month? Or did the sums vary? A.—The business was probably $203 to $300 or $400 a month.

Q-So, then, during that period you probably paid to $400 or $400 a month.

Q.—So, then, during that period you probably paid him as much as $2,000? A.—I should think so. Within all kinds of bounds, $2,000.

Q.—Did you ever have any go-between? A.—Not with Schaffer said he kept a gambling house as recently as "within seven or eight years" here in New York. Once in a while he had found a Captain who did not send his roundsman around, "Who were these Captains?" asked Mr. Terry, "Capt. Washburn was one." said the witness, "Capt. Hedden another, and I think Capt. Saun-

Schaffer said he had paid Sergeant Schoonmaker, who, he thought, was Capt. McCaffrey's wari man, and a man named Dunlap, who was Capt. Williams's ward man. He gave Dunlap $50 a month. He said, when asked for the names of other Captains to whose ward men he paid money, that his memory was getting bad.
He was doing business when McLaughin was acting chief of the detective force, when Byrnes was acting Superintendent, and when Murray was acting Superintendent, and when Murray He was doing business when McLaughlin was acting chief of the detective force, when Byrnes was acting Superintendent, and when Murray was Superintendent. When he was at 584 Seventh avenue, back of the Metropole, he thought it was in 1886 or 1888, a message came to him that a man wanted to see him at Seventh avenue and Forty-first street. He found the man to be McLaughlin, who told him a party had been to headquarters and wanted to recover some money that the witness had won. There was a $600 check and $350 in cash. The witness gave McLaughlin the check and $100, and McLaughlin told him that he, the witness, owed him, the Inspector, $75. It was the rule that half the money "saved" should go to the police. In this case the $350 was "saved." Of this the witness had given McLaughlin $100, and so "owed" him $75. At another time, the witness said, Superintendent Jordan sent for him on a similar complaint by a losing patron. Schaffer settled with the man and gave $50 to Jordan for his trouble, he said. This was in 1866.

Hy vigorous leading by Mr. Terry the witness was got to say that he had heard that John Scannell was at one time regarded as the collector for gambling houses, but he declared that he had never paid him money. His partner had told him that he had paid Scannell $100 a month for a couple of years. His partner had told him that he had paid Scannell $100 a month for a couple of years. BARON FAVA'S LIBELLER SENington for Ninety Buys. WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.—Celso Casar Moreno, who was convicted in the Criminal Court of the district a few days ago on a charge of criminal libel upon Baron Fava, the Italian Ambassador. was this afternoon sentenced by Judge Cole to serve ninety days in the jail of the district. Before sentence was passed Moreno withdrew his motion for a new trial and made an address to the Court, in which he related how he came to the United States and what he did after becoming a naturalized citizen.

He said that he had been zealous in seeking to overthrow the padroni system in this country, a system which had kept thousands of his countryme in slavery, and if, in the pursuit of that object, he had done that which was contrary to law, he regretted it. He desided having any malice toward Haron Fava, and admitted that he did not know him.

Moreno has persistently attacked Baron Fava through the press, not only on the padroni question, but on half a dozen other charges for many years past. His prosecution was finally ordered by the United States Government.

Moreno is a well-known character about Washington, and boasts of having served as Prime Minister to ex-Queen Liliuokalani for one consecutive day. He never grows weary of relating the experience of that sincle day's service with the dusky Queen, and, when he was not employed in defending the policy of President Cleveland in connection with the Hawaiian question, he occupied his time in spreading reports that Haron Fava and several other prominent Italians in this city were interested in the padrone system. Moreno has been for many years engaged in creating a sentiment in Congress favorable to the construction of a cable to Hawaii, and at one time secured a charter for the work, but the necessary money was not raised and the charter lapsed.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 11.-The record of the court martial in the case of Lieut, S. S. Pague, Fifteenth Intantry, recently tried at Fort Sheridan, Ill., for shooting at Col. Crofton, his superfor officer, has been received by the Secre-tary of War. The court was held behind closed doors, and the record and its findings will not at present be made public. As the court was ordered by Gen. Merritt, commanding the De-partment of the Misrouri, and as the sentence pariment of the Misrouri, and as the sentence was not carried out in the department, Lieut. Pague has probably been found guilty and recommended for dismissal. In case the sentence had been less than dismissal Gen. Merritt would have power to approve the findings of the court, and the case would not have been sent here except as a matter of record.

dered by Chief Justice Fuller the Supreme Court of the United States to-day decided that it has jurisdiction over the case of the United States vs. the Heil Telephone Company to cancel the Berliner patent, which the Court of Appeals for the First Circuit decided against the Government. The telephone company moved to dismiss the appeal for the reason that under the Court of Appeals act the Supreme Court of the United States has no jurisdiction, because the case was one "arising under the patent laws of the United States." and judgments of the Courts of Appeals in such cases were made final. The United States opposed this on the ground that the act gave the right of appeal to the United States in cases where it was a party.

The result of the decision is that the case must come before the court for final decision. vs. the Heil Telephone Company to cancel the Acting Chief Conlin, it is understood, is going to reorganize the several court squads, and also the City Hall squad. Nearly all the men who are at present attached to the court squads will, it is said, be transferred to precinct duty, and a number of the patrolmen now doing duty in the City Hall squad will be sent to other precincts. It is also expected that about forty roundsmen will be remanded to patrol duty within a few days. Acting Chief Conlin has prepared a list of the roundsmen who, because they are considered inefficient, will go back on post. He has also recommended a number of patrolmen for prometion. The Commissioners have been looking over the men and investigating their fitness to be roundsmen. Other changes among officers of higher rank are also anticipated shortly. It is said the Commissioners will confirm the appointment of a few of the present acting Captains.

On Nov. 27 Inspector Conlin will have served six months as acting Chief and Capts. Cortright, Brooks, and McCullagh will have been acting Inspectors for the same period. It is understood that the Board will shortly make a full Chief and also some full Inspectors. The general impression in the department is that Conlin will be made Chief permanently.

There are a number of Sergeants to be appointed. Roundsmen Steinbruck, McKirvey, Tighe, and Schlottman, all of the Central Office, it is said, are stated for promotion. Acting Chief Conlin has ordered the following transfers in addition to those given above:

CHURCH OF THE SEA AND LAND. Presbytery Decides to Mortgage it Instead

After the passage of the resolution the Rev. "Here in this armory close beside us there was held last week a great fair, and a large proportion of the money was made by raffling tor various articles of value. Now, we all know that this was a violation of the law of the State. This action openly broke a law which is both righteous and necessary, a law which has been emerted by the Legislature to break up that curse of gambling which is leading astray so many young men and injuring the morals of the people. I do not know anything at all of the internal counsels of the Seventeenth Separate Company, or of those who manased the fair, but I take it for granted that all the Christian young men and women who had part in it exerted their utmost influence against this raffling which violated the law of the State and the law of God.
"I take it for granted that all this took place because the Christian young people were in the minority and could not prevent it. But it only shows how necessary it is for us not only to sing and pray but to stand for the right all the time. Even before leading in right action, it is the duty of Christians to lead the thought of the community. Much of this wrong comes from lack of thought. We know that all three good friends who belong to the Seventeenth Separate Company and all those that managed the fair are upright and well-meaning cutzens. If they had only stopped to think, they would have seen how wrong it is that the soldiers who are enlisted to defend the laws should openly break those laws and set a open example of law-breaking. If they had so stopped to think and realize what they were doing, I am persuaded it never would have been done."

Willie Richards, the sixteen-year-old son of a Florida farmer, heard a noise in the hen house early this morning. He went out and shot a skurk. He emptied his revolver and went back to the house. His younger brother reloaded the revolver without telling anybody. A little later his sister Della came down to breakfast, and Willie, clated over killing the skunk, described the occurrence to his sister. He wicked up the revolver, and, to emphasize his story, snapped the weapon. It went off, and the bullet entered the girl's neck just over the collar bone. Sho is not expected to live.

Police Acknowledged Their Mistake. The Excise Commissioners dismissed yesterday a complaint against the saloon of C. L. Rosenthal, at 420 Sixth avenue. Capt. Pickett who alleged that it was a disorderly house, admitted that the police had made an error.

was fully paid for and in their joint names. The defendant began to fall off in the weekly payments he had promised to make, saying that his business did not prosper. She says she ascertained that the defendant, "although ostensibly and to outward appearances living with the family, and pretending to lead a correct and virtuous life, was and had been for many years leading an immoral life."

She was greatly chagrined at the information, she says, as she was then the assistant superintendent of St. Stephen's Church Sunday school. When she remonstrated with her brother she says he turned on her with ferocity and bruiality, and dree her out of the house. She made frequent attempts to return, but did not get back until June 10, 1882. While she was away she kept sending money for the support of the family, and sent in all $1,000. In May, 1883, she says, she discovered that the defendant was "making the house disreputable and notorious." She says:

Acting Captain O'Brien of the Detective Bureau telegraphed to Consul-General Vifquain at Panama to "arrest Joseph Reiss, age 34, slim, reddish-brown hair, and wears eyeglasses." Vice-Consul Pearcy took charge at Colon of Mr. Reis, who answers this description somewhat, and accompanied him to Panama. There Reis was taken to the office of Consul-General Vifquain, who is a Belgian, and, it is said, understands and speaks English imperfectly. Vifquain ordered the police to search Reis's trunks, and if they did not find the missing leweiry to release him. But they rearrested him after his release, insisted that he was the thief, and didn't let him go, in spite of cablegrams identifying him and a cable remittance of money from his father, until Nov. 4, just as the Newport sailed. Then a cablegram from Acting Captain O'Brien was received saying: "Release Christian Reis. Not the man wanted."
Reis spent an hour or two in the calaboose at Panama, but was mostly at hotels under surveillance. He says he will complain to the State Department.
It is said that Consul-General Vifquain created some ansusement in naval circles by going aboard an American man-of-war at Panama and ordering them to dress ship in honor of the birthday of the King of Helgium.
Mr. Reis would like to know what right the Consul-General had to arrest him on the order of a policeman of the city of New York. Acting Captain O'Brien of the Detective Bureau Japan's Additional Indemnity.
